

Bangladesh Cyclone Relief

Please Donate to Support those in Dire Need

On November 15, 2007, Cyclone Sidr devastated Southern Bangladesh with winds of over 150mph and a 16 foot tidal wave. The death toll from this calamity is in the thousands and millions more have been rendered homeless. Thousands of villages have been ravaged, leaving homes and crops totally destroyed. Poor farmers neither have money for next year's crop/harvest preparations or household expenses, nor do they have any resources to repair and rebuild their homes. Millions of people are at high risk of death due to starvation and disease.

Hidaya Foundation's Response

Short-Term Relief:

In the initial stages, food packages will be distributed to help families for the weeks ahead.

It costs $25 to feed a family for a few weeks.

Long Term Rehabilitation:

Hidaya Foundation's main goal is to help rehabilitate farmers who have lost their crops. As such, Hidaya intends to support deserving farmers through the distribution of seeds so that they can restore their livelihood.

It costs $75 to help a farmer prepare for next year's harvest.
